

I would like to be able to continue using a local ISP provider with whom I have a very good business relation. Giving Verizon the ability to eliminate their competition is not in my best interest as there will no longer be any incentive to hold down the cost of the DSL service.

Thank you,

James Stephenson